

Scott D. Miller, Ph.D.

Dr. Scott D. Miller is President of Virginia Wesleyan University, Coastal Virginia's premier university of the liberal arts and sciences located in Virginia Beach, Virginia. Respected as one of the nation's top university leaders, Dr. Miller has served in 21 college presidencies. Dr. Miller has dedicated his career to the opportunities available through higher education. He especially values the small liberal arts college environment that offers students personalized pathways to life and career success.

Dr. Miller has also served as President of Bethany College (2007-2015), Wesley College (1997-2007), and Lincoln Memorial University (2001-07). At LMU, he was just 31 years old at the time of service as a CEO are rare for higher education leaders. According to the American Council on Education "American College Presidents Study," just 1.1 percent of leaders were on their fourth presidencies in the most recent year of the survey. More than 98 percent of respondents had held

He has authored or edited 21 books and over 200 professional articles. He has been a regular columnist for The Virginian-Pilot, Enrollment Manager, College Planning and Management, and professor "Presidential Perspectives," a national thought series for college and university presidents in partnership with

In 2010, he was named one of the top 100 university presidents in the United States by the National Association of Public Administrators. He has also served as a senior advisor to the Virginia Department of Education and the Virginia State Board of Education. Dr. Miller has received numerous awards from The Atlantic Business Review.

A lifelong member of the United Methodist Church, Dr. Miller has served as president and chair of the Board of Directors

(BNA-MSCU) and as a member of the Board of Directors of the Council of Christian Universities of the Christian Church, Disciples of Christ (CCUCC), and was chair of the Association on the Board of Directors of the International Association of Methodist Schools, Colleges and Universities. He is a resident of Virginia Beach, Virginia, the leading business advocacy organization in Coastal Virginia.

He has received numerous awards and accolades over his four-decade career in higher education. In 2023, he was named one of the top 100 university presidents in the United States by the National Association of Public Administrators. In 2021, he was honored by the United Negro College Fund with the M.A.S.K.E.D. Award for his leadership in the field of higher education.

Dr. Miller has also served as a member of the Board of Directors of Washington, D.C.